CONSTITUTION OF INDIA

Background (1/4): Three organs of government

- Legislature makes laws, executive carries them out, and judiciary interprets them and settles disputes.
- India has a parliamentary system: the executive sits in the legislature and is answerable to it.
- The Council of Ministers is collectively responsible to the Lok Sabha (Art. 75).

Background (2/4): At the Union level

- President: head of State, elected by an electoral college for five years (Art. 54), acts on the advice of ministers (Art. 74).
- Prime Minister and Council of Ministers: the real executive.
- Parliament: Lok Sabha (maximum 550 members) and Rajya Sabha (maximum 250 members).

Background (3/4): At the State level

- Governor: appointed by the President, head of the State (Arts. 153-155).
- Chief Minister and Council of Ministers aid and advise the Governor (Arts. 163-164).
- State Legislature: Vidhan Sabha everywhere, and a Legislative Council in six States.
- High Court heads the State's courts.

Background (4/4): What you must know

- Powers of the President compared with the Prime Minister.
- How a bill becomes law, and the difference between an ordinary bill and a Money Bill.
- Supreme Court and High Court: independence, judicial review, public interest litigation, collegium.
- Lokpal and Lokayuktas (Act of 2013).

- As per the Constitution of India, the following are the eligibility criteria for the appointment of the Governor in a particular state:
- He or she must be a citizen of India.
- He or she must have completed 35 years of age. He or she must not hold any other office of profit.
- He or she must not be a member of the Legislature of the Union or of any other state. There is no bar to the selection of a Governor from among the members of the Legislature, provided that on appointment, he or she immediately ceases to be a Member of the Legislature.

GOVERNOR – SELECTION PROCESS & TENURE

- The Governor is not elected by the process of direct or indirect voting (like the Chief Minister, the Prime Minister or the President).
- The Governor of a particular state is appointed directly by the President of India, for a period of five years. The Governor must meet all the eligibility criteria enumerated above, to be appointed by the President.
- A governor of a state in India holds office for a period of 5 years, but it is subject to termination earlier if:
- The Governor is dismissed by the President, at whose pleasure he holds the office.
- The Governor resigns from his post. There is no retirement age of the Governor, as he or she stays in office for a fixed term.
- There is no provision for a Governor to be impeached from office, unlike that of a President.

GOVERNOR – ROLE (1/2)

- The Governor is the head of a state just like the President is the head of the republic. The Governor is the nominal head of a state, while the Chief Minister is the executive head.
- All executive actions of the state are taken in the name of the Governor. However, in reality he merely gives his consent to the various executive actions.
- He or she is devoid of taking any major decisions. The real powers in the executive dealings of a state rest with the Chief Minister and the Council of Ministers.

GOVERNOR – ROLE (2/2)

- According to an amendment in the CoI, brought about in 1956, the same person can be the Governor of two or more states. Lieutenant Governors head Delhi, Andaman & Nicobar Islands, Puducherry, Jammu & Kashmir and Ladakh. Other UTs have an Administrator (an IAS officer); Chandigarh's Administrator is the Governor of Punjab.

STATE LEGISLATURE

- Legislation provides the framework for policy formulation and arms the government with powers to implement the policies.
- At the state level, the function of providing the necessary legislative framework is performed by State Legislature.
- Our Constitution provides that every state shall have at least one house, viz., the Legislative Assembly comprising 60 to 500 members chosen by direct election on the basis of adult suffrage from territorial constituencies.
- In addition, any state can create a second house, viz., Legislative Council if it so desires. This can be done by a resolution of the Assembly passed by a special majority (i.e., a majority of total membership of the Assembly not being less than two-thirds of the members actually present and voting) followed by an Act of Parliament.

STATE LEGISLATURE

- By the same process, an existing Legislative Council can be abolished also. West Bengal, Punjab and Tamil Nadu have used this procedure to abolish their Councils.
- At present six States have two Houses: Andhra Pradesh, Bihar, Karnataka, Maharashtra, Telangana and Uttar Pradesh. Whenever constituted, the membership of the Council cannot be more than 1/3 of the membership of the Assembly, but not less than 40. The composition of Council membership is as follows:
  - 1/3 elected by members of local bodies.
  - 1/12 elected by Electorate of graduates of 3 years' standing
  - 1/12 elected by teachers of 3 years' experience in secondary school or above
  - 1/3 elected by MLAs from non-members of the Assembly
  - 1/6 nominated by the Governor

STATE LEGISLATURE

- Election is to be in accordance with the principle of proportional representation by means of the single transferable vote.
- Duration of the Assembly is five years unless dissolved earlier by the Governor. Its term may be extended by Parliament during a National Emergency, one year at a time, but not beyond six months after the Emergency ends.
- The Legislative Council is a continuing or permanent body with 1/ 3 of its members retiring every second year.

STATE COUNCIL OF MINISTERS

- Art. 163: a Council of Ministers headed by the Chief Minister aids and advises the Governor, except where he acts in his discretion.
- Art. 164: the Governor appoints the Chief Minister, and appoints the other ministers on the Chief Minister's advice.
- The Council of Ministers is collectively responsible to the Legislative Assembly (Art. 164(2)).
- Size (91st Amendment, 2003): not more than 15% of the Assembly's strength, and at least 12 ministers in most States.
- A minister who is not a member of the Legislature for six consecutive months ceases to be a minister (Art. 164(4)).
- The Cabinet, the smaller group of senior ministers, takes the main policy decisions.

CHIEF MINISTER - APPOINTMENTS

- The Governor appoints the leader of the majority party in the State Legislative Assembly as the Chief Minister. He is the head of the State Council of Ministers. The State Council of Ministers revolves round him.
- The Chief Minister remains in office so long as he commands support of the majority members of the Legislative Assembly.
- When he loses support in the legislature, he has to resign. The resignation of the Chief Minister must means the resignation of the whole Council of Ministers in the State.
- The Chief Minister must be a member of the State Legislature. If he / she is not a member of the State legislature at the time of his taking over charge, then he must be so within a period of six months.

CHIEF MINISTER – POWERS & FUNCTIONS

- The Chief Minister plays an important role in the formation of the Council of Ministers.
- On the advice of the Chief Minister, the Governor appoints the other Ministers of the Council of Ministers and distributes among them the portfolios. As the head of the Council of Ministers, he presides over the meetings of the Council of Ministers and the Cabinet.
- The Chief Minister supervises the activities of different ministries and advises them accordingly. He also coordinates the activities of different ministries. He has to see that the principle of collective responsibility is maintained by the Ministers.

CHIEF MINISTER – POWERS & FUNCTIONS

- The Chief Minister plays an important role in making policies of the State Government. He has to ensure that the policies of the government do not go against public interest. His voice is final in policy decisions of the State Government.
- He also an important role in making higher appointments of the State Government. The Governor appoints different higher officials of the State Government on the advice of the Chief Minister and his Council of Ministers.
- The Chief Minister is the channel of communication between the Governor and the other members of the Council of Ministers. He has to keep the Governor informed of the decisions taken by the Council of Ministers on various matters relating to State administration.

CHIEF MINISTER – POWERS & FUNCTIONS

- The Chief Minister is the chief administrator of the State. All major decisions of the State Government are taken under his leadership. He is responsible for over all working of the state departments. He has also to maintain a good and harmonious relation with the Central Government.
- As the leader of the majority party in the Legislative Assembly, the Chief Minister has to see that party discipline is maintained in the House. He has also to defend the ministers of his Council of Ministers on the floor of the House from the criticisms of the opposition.
- The success of the State Government depends to a great extent upon the leadership of the Chief Mister. If he is strong, dynamic and efficient, them the government will definitely perform well and rise up to the expectations of the people.

BICAMERAL STATE LEGISLATURE - PROCEDURE

Money Bill :

- A Money Bill can originate only in the Legislative Assembly and not in the Council.
- The Council cannot reject or modify this Bill passed by the Assembly. It can only make recommendations, which may or may not be accepted by the Assembly.
- The Bill as passed by the Assembly with or without modification, is presented to the Governor for assent. If the Council does not return the Bill within 14 days, it can straightaway be presented to the Governor for his assent.
- Thus, the will of the Assembly ultimately prevails. The Council can at best delay its passage.

BICAMERAL STATE LEGISLATURE - PROCEDURE

Other than Money Bill :

- Such a Bill can originate in either House.
- If a Bill is passed by the Assembly, the Council may reject the Bill, modify it; or may not pass it for three months. If the Bill is again passed by the Assembly with or without modification, the Council, on its second journey, may only delay it by one month.
- If a Bill originates in the Council and is rejected by the Assembly, the matter ends

Governor – Veto

When a Bill, passed by State Legislature, is presented to the Governor for his assent:

- The Governor may assent to the Bill, in which case it would become law.
- He may withhold assent, in which case it does not become law.
- He may, in case of a Bill other than a Money Bill, return the Bill with a message.
- The Governor may reserve a Bill for the consideration of the President.

Legislative Assembly – Powers & Functions (1/2)

- The main duty of the Legislative Assembly is to make laws for the state.
- It can make law on the subjects mentioned in the state list and the concurrent list. However, during state emergency, it can not exercise its legislative power.
- The assembly has control over the State council of Ministers. The State council of ministers is responsible or answerable to the Assembly for its activities. The Assembly many pass a no-confidence motion against the council of Ministers and bring its downfall if it is not satisfied with the performance of the council of Ministers.

Legislative Assembly – Powers & Functions (2/2)

- The legislation Assembly has control over the finances of the state. A money bill can be introduced only on the floor of the Assembly. The government can not impose, increase, lower or withdraw any tax without the approval of the Assembly.
- The elected members of the Legislative Assembly can take part in the election of the president of India and all members can take part in the election of the members of the Rajya Sabha from the state.

Legislative Council – Powers & Functions

- Ordinary bills can be introduced in the Council on any matter of the State List and the Concurrent List.
- A money bill can not be introduced in the Legislative Council. A money bill passed by the Legislative Assembly must be adopted by the Legislative Council within a period of 14 days.
- If a money bill is not adopted within that period, then it is regarded as passed by both houses of the State legislature.

The Legislative Council exercises control over the Council of Ministers. The members can ask questions to the Ministers on various matters and can introduce motions against the ministers. However, it can not pass a no- confidence motion against the Council of Ministers.

Legislative Council – Powers & Functions

- The existence of the Legislative Council is criticized as purposeless. It is not only less powerful than that of the Legislative Assembly, but also can not be compared with the Rajya Sabha of the Union parliament. The Rajya Sabha, which is an upper house like that of the Legislative Council, is not as powerless as the Legislative Council. The Legislative Council is often regarded as ornamental in terms of powers and functions.

JUDICIAL SYSTEM IN INDIA

- Supreme Court of India: the apex court (Art. 124)
- High Courts: one for each State or group of States (Art. 214)
- District Courts: subordinate courts under the High Court (Arts. 233-237)
  - Civil side: District Judge, Civil Judge (Senior Division), Civil Judge (Junior Division)
  - Criminal side: Court of Session, Chief Judicial Magistrate, Judicial Magistrates
- Tribunals, Lok Adalats and Gram Nyayalayas supplement the court system

INDEPENDENCE OF JUDICIARY

Simply stated independence of judiciary means that :

- The other organs of the government like the executive and legislature must not restrain the functioning of the judiciary in such a way that it is unable to do justice.
- The other organs of the government should not interfere with the decision of the judiciary.
- Judges must be able to perform their functions without fear or favor.
- Independence of the judiciary does not imply arbitrariness or absence of accountability.Judiciary is a part of the democratic political structure of the country. It is therefore accountable to the Constitution, to the democratic traditions and to the people of the country.

INDEPENDENCE OF JUDICIARY

The Indian Constitution has ensured the independence of the judiciary through a number of measures as under :

- The legislature is not involved in the process of appointment of judges. In order to be appointed as a judge, a person must have experience as a lawyer and/or must be well versed in law. Political opinions of the person or his/ her political loyalty should not be the criteria for appointments to judiciary.
- The judges have a fixed tenure. They hold office till reaching the age of retirement. Only in exceptional cases, judges may be removed. But otherwise, they have security of tenure. Security of tenure ensures that judges could function without fear or favor

The Indian Constitution has ensured the independence of the judiciary through a number of measures as under :

- The Constitution prescribes a very difficult procedure for removal of judges. The Constitution makers believed that a difficult procedure of removal would provide security of office to the members of judiciary.
- The judiciary is not financially dependent on either the executive or legislature. The Constitution provides that the salaries and allowances of the judges are not subjected to the approval of the legislature.

INDEPENDENCE OF JUDICIARY

The Indian Constitution has ensured the independence of the judiciary through a number of measures as under :

- The actions and decisions of the judges are immune from personal criticisms. The judiciary has the power to penalize those who are found guilty of contempt of court. This authority of the court is seen as an effective protection to the judges from unfair criticism.
- Parliament cannot discuss the conduct of the judges except when the proceeding to remove a judge is being carried out. This gives the judiciary independence to adjudicate without fear of being criticized.

APPOINTMENT OF JUDGES

Council of Ministers, Governors and Chief Ministers and Chief Justice of India — all influence the process of judicial appointment.

- As far as the appointment of the Chief Justice of India (CJI) is concerned, over the years, a convention had developed whereby the senior-most judge of the Supreme Court was appointed as the Chief Justice of India.
- The other Judges of the Supreme Court and the High Court are appointed by the President after consulting the CJI; in practice they act on the Collegium's recommendation.

APPOINTMENT OF JUDGES

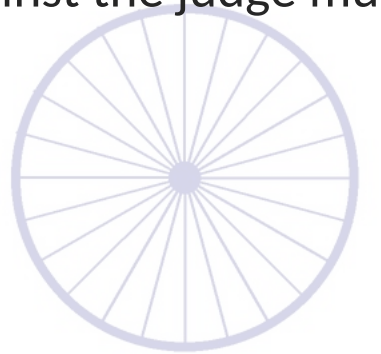

The Supreme Court evolved the Collegium system (Second and Third Judges Cases, 1993 and 1998):

- It has suggested that the Chief Justice should recommend names of persons to be appointed in consultation with four senior-most judges of the Court.

Thus, the Supreme Court has established the principle of collegiality in making recommendations for appointments. The NJAC (99th Amendment) was struck down in 2015

REMOVAL OF JUDGES

- The removal of judges of the Supreme Court and the High Courts is also extremely difficult.
- A judge of the Supreme Court or High Court can be removed only on the ground of proven misbehavior or incapacity.
- A motion containing the charges against the judge must be approved by special majority in both Houses of the Parliament.

JUDICIAL STRUCTURE IN INDIA (1/2)

JURISDICTION OF SUPREME COURT

JUDICIAL ACTIVISM

- The chief instrument through which judicial activism has flourished in India is Public Interest Litigation (PIL) or Social Action Litigation (SAL).
- That is to say, a person whose rights have been violated, or who is involved in a dispute, could move the court of law.
- In 1979 (Hussainara Khatoon v. State of Bihar), the Court set the trend when it decided to hear a case where the case was filed not by the aggrieved persons but by others on their behalf.
- As this case involved a consideration of an issue of public interest, it and such other cases came to be known as public interest litigation.

JUDICIAL ACTIVISM

- Around the same time, the Supreme Court also took up the case about rights of prisoners.
- This opened the gates for large number of cases where public spirited citizens and voluntary organizations sought judicial intervention for protection of existing rights, betterment of life conditions of the poor, protection of the environment, and many other issues in the interest of the public. PIL has become the most important vehicle of judicial activism.
- Judiciary, which is an institution that traditionally confined to responding to cases brought before it, began considering many cases merely on the basis of newspaper reports and postal complaints received by the court. Therefore, the term judicial activism became the more popular description of the role of the judiciary.

JUDICIAL ACTIVISM

- Through the PIL, the court has expanded the idea of rights. Clean air, unpolluted water, decent living, etc., are rights for the entire society.
- Therefore, it was felt by the courts that individuals as parts of the society must have the right to seek justice wherever such rights were violated.
- Secondly, through PIL and judicial activism of the post-1980 period, the judiciary has also shown readiness to take into consideration rights of those sections who cannot easily approach the courts.
- For this purpose, the judiciary allowed public spirited citizens, social organizations and lawyers to file petitions on behalf of the needy and the deprived.

JUDICIAL ACTIVISM - POSITIVE IMPACT

- Judicial activism has had manifold impact on the political system :
- It has democratized the judicial system by giving not just to individuals but also groups access to the courts.
- It has forced executive accountability.
- It has also made an attempt to make the electoral system much more free and fair. The court asked candidates contesting elections to file affidavits indicating their assets and income along with educational qualifications so that the people could elect their representatives based on accurate knowledge.

JUDICIAL ACTIVISM - NEGATIVE IMPACT

Judicial activism has had manifold negative impact on the political system :

- There is however a negative side to the large number of PILs and the idea of a proactive judiciary.
- In the first place it has overburdened the courts.
- Secondly, judicial activism has blurred the line of distinction between the executive and legislature on the one hand and the judiciary on the other.
- The court has been involved in resolving questions which belong to the executive. Thus, for instance, reducing air or sound pollution or investigating cases of corruption or bringing about electoral reform is not exactly the duty of the Judiciary.

LOK PAL & LOKAYUKTA

The Lokpal consists of a Chairperson and eight members.

Four of the judicial members have been former Chief Justices of different High Courts and the four non-judicial members have been from All India Services/Central Services.

The Chairperson and members bring with them rich experience and probity, which they have maintained in the public offices that they have held.

The first Chairperson of the Lokpal was Shri Justice Pinaki Chandra Ghose (2019-2022), who is a former Judge of Supreme Court of India and was a sitting member of National Human Rights Commission.

The present Chairperson is Justice Ajay Manikrao Khanwilkar (appointed March 2024).
